Simon, the Real Jesus, and the Need for an Ongoing Reformation

As I mentioned last month, the Elders and I spent our retreat at the Abbey of the Hills on September 19-20, looking at how people often invent false Christ's to follow rather than trusting in the REAL Jesus. One of the false Christ's in that book was a man named Simon. Simon was working on helping flood victims in Fargo with Pastor Matthew Richard (the author of the book, Will the Real Jesus Please Stand Up?) in the early 2000's, when he said, "Luther, Calvin and all those reformers in the sixteenth century had it all wrong. The Jesus they looked to wouldn't have been able to deal with all the problems in our modern world." According to Simon the Jesus of the Reformation was not equipped to deal with the issues facing people today like social injustice, women's rights, LGBTQ issues, racism, climate change, and inequality. For Simon, the real problem isn't sin, it is a lack of equity and oppression. Christians today (from Simon's perspective) need to focus on the oppressors in the world and how they are oppressing others. For Simon, the problem is certain people, not sin. If only oppressors could be dealt with then those who are oppressed will have salvation.

Simon's false Jesus (as well as the other 11 in the book) reminds us of the need for a continuing Reformation. Simon – like others with false Christ's – are confusing the Great Commission with the Great Commandment. As Paul says so clearly in Ephesians 6:12, "For we do not wrestle against flesh and blood, but against the rulers, against the authorities, against the cosmic powers over this present darkness, against the spiritual forces of evil in the heavenly places." That's why Jesus says, "Go make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the Name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, teaching them to observe all that I have commanded you" (Matthew 28:18-20). You see, our enemy isn't other people, it is sin. Simon and so many others forget this. Everyone needs the REAL Jesus (. All people need the forgiveness Jesus won on the cross when He died for the life of the world). Certainly, we are to love one another and help people in the grips of oppression. That's the Great Commandment, to love others as you love yourself (Matthew 22:39). First and foremost, however, we love others by pointing them to Jesus...the REAL Jesus! We don't love people who are oppressing others by acting as if they don't need Jesus just as badly as the people being hurt by them. We also don't love others by pretending sin isn't really sin. As we are told in 1 Timothy 2:4, God our Savior "desires all men to be saved and to come to the knowledge of the truth." Simon needs to gently be shown how sin is the real oppressor of us all, and how the Jesus of the Reformation, the One and Only REAL Jesus is the One everybody needs. He is the answer to everything that is hurting us all.

As Simon's and all the false Christ's in Will the Real Jesus Please Stand Up? (false Christ's that are so prevalent in our world today) remind us, the Reformation of Christ's Church is ongoing. In each generation, the devil – who masquerades as an angel of light (Cor. 11:14) – puts on a different costume to ask human beings of that time the ubiquitous question, "Did God really say?" (Genesis 3:1). In Luther's day the faith and biblical knowledge of the dear people was terribly deficient. In many ways it is not any better today. That's why people are always inventing false Jesus'. During this Reformation season may we not only thank our Savior – the REAL Jesus – for what He accomplished through Martin Luther and others, but let's re-commit ourselves and our churches to an ongoing Reformation....one that helps un-mask the false Christ's of our day, encourages others to spend time in God's Word, and points people to the REAL Jesus. A blessed Reformation to everyone!

In Christ, Pastor Davis

How can you help? Setting up beforehand, cleaning up afterward, providing groceries, monetary donations, cooking, serving, praying for all involved.

We are blessed to serve around 150 people each year.

Stewardship Section: Harmonious Stewardship

"For as in one body we have many members, and the members do not all have the same function, so we, though many, are one body in Christ, and individually members one of another" (Romans 12:4-5).

One of the most forgotten concepts in stewardship is the interdependent nature that makes up the Body of Christ and the way that body supports the shared work of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. This is experienced in the local congregation, as well as in broader mission and ministry efforts at the district and Synod levels. Yet in these words, St. Paul reminds the Romans and us that we are indeed members of one another. This is true in our worship. It is also true in our stewardship of the Gospel. Stewards of all shapes and sizes, ages and abilities, affluence and influence are all assembled around Word and Sacrament in the local congregation with no one being more important than the other. Part of this forgetting lies in what the eyes see and how our human mind operates. Our eyes and our minds are quick to come to the erroneous conclusion that the person who writes the biggest check is the more important steward. Human logic, flawed by sin as it is, could make a claim that the youngest child or the most infirm, aged member of the congregation would certainly be considered something less than important when it comes to the stewardship of the Gospel. Paul makes it clear in these words that this is not how stewardship of the Gospel is measured in the Body of Christ. Rather, it would be better to view local stewardship like the lost art of harmony in congregational singing. This has been lost not only due to the performative nature of the lead singers of the local praise team, but also because modern hymnals are written to almost force the novice hymn-singer into unison voice. Creative harmonization by talented organists is beautiful to listen to, but does not always support the people in the pews in singing in parts. This is a loss in demonstrating a very practical aspect of whole-body stewardship. The sound that builds when choral and congregational singers settle into their voice parts is nothing short of heavenly! Yet when altos, tenors and bass sing their individual parts without any concept of how they fit together, the music doesn't sound as powerful. The narrow range of the typical alto line almost sounds monotonous. The tenor line can get painfully high, and the baseline can get uncomfortably low. But, when interdependently entwined, along with the melody that is so often carried by the sopranos, the music becomes a tremendously powerful tool in communicating the Gospel. The same is true of individual stewards. Certainly, stewards with more financial means are in a unique place to "carry the tune" for ministry in a local congregation. But that doesn't rule out the faithful stewardship of the saint-like 94-year-old Hulda, who prayed for her young pastor in German every night while the aches and pains of arthritis and the grief of losing a daughter to cancer kept her awake. This does not rule out Jimmy, the profoundly developmentally disabled confirmand whose basic but dramatically eloquent confession of the faith left an impression on a congregation long after he went to be with Jesus. It doesn't rule out the single parent, the recovering addict, the family coming out of bankruptcy, the elderly widow and everyone in between. The Lord has entrusted all the baptized with stewardship of the one thing needful: the Gospel of Jesus Christ. No one member of any congregation is more important than another when it comes to this stewardship. The biggest check isn't always the best way to communicate the Gospel. In fact, it is almost always better communicated with the widow's mite, the tenacious stewardship of the talents and so much more.

In the local congregation and beyond, our corporate stewardship of the Gospel needs each other to fill out our great confession. It is not about equal amount. It is about interdependence that only the Holy Spirit can work! Each of us has a role to play, a harmony to sing. The standard for that role is faithfulness. We do not have the same function, but we have the same Jesus! As we sing the parts entrusted to us by the Holy Spirit, the sweet music of the Gospel goes out!
